PRIZES FOR ROADSTERS AND CARRIAGE HORSES-A WINNER NOT APPLAUDED.

JUDGING THE HORSES.

The first important proceeding in the second day of the National Horse Show was the judging of roadsters by D. L. Herr, of Lexington, Ky. In class No. 25 of mares and geldings four years and over, there were no less than twenty-one entries. The first prize fell to Brignolia, the property of William Rockefeller, of this city, and the second to Daisy Hamilton, belonging to I. B. West, also a New-Yorker. There were only two classes judged in this section, the other being for stallions one year old, the first prize for which was won by Protecteur, a Freuch horse imported by Cyrus Bosworth, of Cleveland, Ohio. The importation of French stock for breeding heavy roadsters and for brougham and carriage horses was developed still more strongly in the afternoon, when Colonel Delaney Kane judged that section. Of the seven coaching stallions four years old and over entered for competition, two were imported from England and three from France and two were bred in this country. The first prize of $150 was given to Brin D'Amour, an immense bay horse four years old, imported from France by Cyrus Bosworth. The second prize fell to Tyrolien, another French horse, seven years old, belonging to W. S. Garnee, of this civ. Starlight, an American horse, sire Kentucky Prince, dam Queen, received very honorable mention, and Barmet, an Euglish stallion, belonging to Messrs, Shepard and Peer, of Monnt Morris, N. Y., had the honor of the fourth award, Of the coaching stallions three years old, two were French imported by I. H. Dahlman, of this city, and they received the first and second prizes. When these heavy creatures had been sent to their stalls came the judging of the carriage horses proper—animals broken to harness. This was one of the most exciting secres of the day. Around the inclosure there was a ring of brongham, T-carts, pony carts, village carts, placetons, American top buggies, to the himbour of the first and second prizes. When these heavy creatures had been sent to their stalls came the judging of the carriage horse for based. Not a few spectators insplaced their sympathies and expected horses to win that were not even mentioned.

This was still more generally the case in the next class, R, for a special premium offered by W. K. Vanderbilt for the best stepper in single harness. There were twenty-four entires for this, and among them Lady De Jarnett, said to be the pride of Kentucky. She was trotted around the ring slowly and at speed, and the spectators broke out into vehement applause. She was not mentioned. Dandy, also entered in a tandem team not yet indiged, received the prize, and Captain Jinks, Charlie, and Whitelegs were placed second, third and fourth. They may all be classed as horses of the English type, and were handsome animals with fine action, though to the untrained eye not to be named in the same breath with Lady De Jarnett. Under the circumstances it was impossible that the winner should be applauded. Class 93, for hunters carrying 150 pounds, was then judged by Carrol Livingston. The water jump was suppressed and the seven competitors acquitted themselves nobly. E. D. Morgan's Aleazar was first, and Stanley Mortimer's Desperation second.

In the evening Carrol Livingston resumed the tabile of saddle labores.

WITNESSES WEARIED BY DELAYS.

WITNESSES WEARIED BY DELAYS.

Subpana-server Applegate of the Court of General Sessious was directed a few days ago to serve subpanas on the witnesses in the case of Martin Allen and others who are charged with burglary. One of the subpanas was addressed to Lizzie Devaney, who is a servant refused to take the subpana, and when the mistress was called she declined to let the servant go to the court. Mr. Applegate said that it might be necessary for the District Attorney to send a policeman if the subpana was not obeyed. "I don't care," said Mrs. Abrams. "He may send all the policemen he wants. Fil tell my busband." An order of the court was procured and Lizzie Devaney was taken to court yesterday with Mrs. Abrams. It appeared that the servant had been several times in attendance in obedience to subpanas and the case had always been postponed. The loss of time was a serious detriment to the witness. The witness was allowed to go on the recognizance of one of the invors. Several other cases where witnesses had become wearied by frequent attendance when trials did not proceed have been called to the District-Attorney's attention. Mr. McKeon called his assistants together yesterday and instructed them to use more care in having only cases on the calendar which there was some probability of trying on the day assigned.

The presence of two anctioneers in the stand both calling the bid at the same time was a stand both calling the bid at the same time was a novel feature of the sale. LIQUOR STORES NEAR CENTRAL PARK.

LIQUOR STORES NEAR CENTRAL PARK.

Superintendent Walling yesterday sent to the Board of Police a report which Inspector Dilks had prepared in answer to a recent letter of Park Commissioner Olliffe regarding a number of liquor stores near Central Park.

Mr. Olliffe claimed that liquor stores in Fifth and Eighth aves, between Fifty-ninth and One-hundred-and-tenth sts, were the resorts of thieves and other disorderly persons who went into the park at night to destroy or deface property and to rob or blackmail visitors. Inspector Dilks wrote that he had caused a thorough investigation to be made, and had received reports from the captains of the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-eighth and Thirty-first Precincts. The investigation, he thought, showed that the charges were erroneous. The persons complained of were not frequenters of the liquor-stores mentioned, but were residents of various parts of New-York and Brooklyn. In support of this statement there was presented a record of arrests which had been made in the park, the residences of the prisoners being furnished from the books of the Twenty-eighth Precinct Police Station. The liquor-stores were licensed, the Inspector stated, and were conducted in an orderly manner. He had given instructions to the captains of precincts adjacent to Central Park to use every means at their command to assist in suppressing the abuses of which Mr. Ollifle has complained.

SHOT BY HER HUSBAND.

PROBABLE WIFE-MURDER IN BROOKLYN.

THOMAS YOUNG ABUSES HIS WIFE AND CARRIES OUT A THREAT TO KILL HER.

OUT A THEEAT TO KILL HER.

Mrs. Mary Young, of No. 54 Washington-ave., Brooklyn, was shot by her husband yesterday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Cole, No. 95 Tompkins-ave., and probably fatally wounded. Thomas Young, who did the shooting, was formerly a clerk in the Internal Revenue Collector's office in Brooklyn, and is now a pothouse politician, with a dram-shop in the Eleventh Ward. He married four years ago, his wife being then a widow with one child. She was twenty-four years old and was good-looking. Young drank so hard that he lost his position and took up the business of liquor-selling. He ill-treated his wife and has been arrested several times. She had threatened to leave him, and on Saturday last carried the threat into execution, going to her mother's home. Her husband went to the house to see her yesterday and induce her to return home with him. In the interview between them she firmly refused to go back with him, notwithstanding the promises which he made. She accused him of having a pistol in his pocket to carry out a threat he had often made of killing her, and said that she supposed he had come to see her to kill her. Young denied having a pistol or any murderous intention, and asked his mother-in-law to let him and his wife go into a room by themselves, saying he could induce her to return with him if they were alone. Both Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Young objected strongly to this. Mrs. Young said:

"You want to shoot me; why not do it here if you said:

"You want to shoot me; why not do it here if you want to murder me, as I know you do?"
Young replied: "I don't want to kill you; I want you to go home with me," and at the same time put his hand in his pistol poeket, drawing the wcapon. His wife saw the motion and ran toward a front room on the same floor, but before she could reach it the revolver was fired, a 32-calibre bullet entering her abdomen on the left side of the middle line. The wounded woman ran to a window in the front of the house, raised it by almost superluman exertion and screamed; "Murder! Police! Police!" and then sank upon the floor. James McCabe, who lives on the top floor, heard the shot and rushed down-stairs. He entered the room where Mrs. Young lay, and seeing the husband with a smoking pistol in his hand promptly knocked him down and took the pistol from him. He then held Young until Roundsman O'Reilly, of the Thirteenth Precinct, hearing the screams of the wounded woman, arrived. Young got on his knees to his wife and begged her to say that the revolver was accidentally discharged and that he had not intended to shoot her. She was unable to speak, but her mother said that Young deliberately aimed at his wife. Ambulance Surgeon Mirrielees was called to care for the wounded woman. The bullet could not be reached by a probe, and the wound was declared to be a fatal one, as peritonitis will ensue if Mrs. Young does not die from the sheek. Coroner Doyle was summoned to take her ante-mortem statement. Young has a jealous disposition, a'ud when in liquor is easily aroused. It is supposed that he was maddened by drink and his wife's refusal to live with him longer, and so was led to attempt to kill her. The prisoner was taken to the Flushing Avenue Police Station last night. said:

THE EDISON LIGHTS GO OUT.

A TRIFLING ANNOYANCE—ELECTION OF COMPANY

"At 5:15 o'clock p. m. yesterday, 4,500 lamps in the first district of the Edison Electric Light Com-pany went out. The district extending from the East River to Nassau-st., and from Spruce-st. to Charlie, and Whitelegs were placed second, third and fourth. They may all be classed as horses of the English type, and were handsome animals with fine action, though to the untrained eye not to be named in the same breath with Lady De Jarnett. Under the circumstances it was impossible that the winner should be applauded. Class 93, for hunters carrying 150 pounds, was then judged by Carrol Livingston. The water jump was suppressed and the seven competitors acquitted themselves nobly. E. D. Morgan's Aleazar was first, and Stanley Mortiner's Desperation second.

In the evening Carrol Livingston resumed the ludging of saddle-horses. He awarded the first prize in the ladies' horse class to Marie Stunt, owned by Charles Cathanach, and ridden by Miss Methuish. The second prize went to C. C. Magoun's Zampa, ridden by young Magoun. In the next class, No. 85, for cobs, there were seven entries, Livingston gave the first prize to James I who had entered Surprise, and was riding her timself, made a protest. At the annual election of Directors for the Edison Electric Light Company, which took place yesterday afternoon, at the company's office in Fifth-ave. the following were elected without opposition: Norvin Green, S. B. Eaton, G. P. Lowrey, Thomas A. Edison, J. H. Wright, Henry Villard, James H. Banker, Calvin Goddard, Edward D. Adams, Anthony J. Thomas, J. F. de Navarro, Edward H. Johnson, and W. H. Meadoweraft. Major Eaton, president of the company, said in reply to a Trimune reporter's inquiries, that the company had delayed starting a central station in its second or uptown district, because the old stockholders were averse to furnishing the necessary funds till a dividend had district, because the old stockholders were averse to furnishing the necessary funds till a dividend had been paid from the profits made in the downtown district after a year's business. The first year of the company's business, for which charges had been made, would end some time in March, and then it was expected that a dividend would be paid. If this should be done, a central station would be built next summer. Plenty of money had been offered from sources outside the stockholders for going on with second district work, Major Eaton said, but it had been thought best not to accept the offers.

DISORDERLY HOUSES NEAR A COLLEGE.

Complaint was made to District-Attorney McKeon a few days ago by Abram S. Hewitt, General
A. S. Webb, the president of the College of the City of New-York, and other persons interested in the welfare of that institution, that the block in Twenty-second-st. in the rear of the college contained many disorderly houses. Mr. McKeon sent word to Captain Clinchy, of the Eighteenth Precinct, asking that the owners of the nouses be requested to abate the nuisance. Some of the houses were closed by the proprietors, but others still remained open, one of the owners asserting that he had "fixed" the District-Attorney's office. The cases of the proprietors who did not close their houses were sent before the Grand Jury, and indictinents were found. Bench warrants were issued, and were served yesterday by Captain Clinchy and his men. Annie Hall, of No. 140 East Twenty-second-st., who was sick, was left in her house in custody of an officer. The others were arraigned in the Court of General Sessions and pleaded not guilty. Bail was nixed by Judge Gildersleeve at $2,000 in each case. Julia Williams, of No. 136, Julia Walters, of No. 142, and Lizzie Ackerman, of No. 134 East Twenty-second-st., each deposited $1,000 in cash with the City Chamberlain. Manassah L. Goldman, of No. 23 Eldridgest., gave bail for Georgie Lee, of No. 158 East Twenty-second-st.

THE NEW AQUEDUCT ROUTE.

The Aqueduct Commission yesterday gave an additional hearing to citizens who oppose the Hudson River route for the proposed aqueduct. Fordham Morris, who represents several of the residents, questioned Chief Engineer Newton, of the Department of Public Works, at considerable length. Mr. Newton said that wherever the present aqueduct was in rock tunnel it was still in excellent condition. No repairs of any extent had been necessary on this portion since it was constructed. Oriando B. Potter said that the aqueduct should be at least fifteen feet in diameter. This would in the end prove the cheapest, as at a not remote time the city would have to go beyond the Croton Valley for an additional supply. The large aqueduct could then be used to bring down a supply from the upper Hudson or from other localities. Large storage reservoirs would soon have to be built in the upper part of the city, and these would be filled by the large reservoir. THE NEW AQUEDUCT ROUTE.

COMPELLED BY HER HUSBAND TO STEAL.

The case of Mrs. Rose Rich, who was recently arrested for stealing ribbons from O'Neill's store in Sixth-ave,, where she has been employed for eleven years, came up again yesterday in the Jefferson Market Police Court. It transpired that about four weeks ago Mrs. Rich left her husband, Winfield Rich, and moved with her mother and four children to No. 462 West Twenty-sixth-st. About this time an anonymous note was received at O'Neill's store charging Mrs. Rich with stealing ribbons. The matter was investigated, Mrs. Rich was arrested, and she explained that her indolent husband had insisted upon her committing the thefts. Rich was arrested Monday evening and he stated to the detective that his wife had stolen the ribbons and he had sold them to Mrs. C. Posthauer, a dealer in fancy goods at No. 458 Third-ave., at a great discount, and that she was cognizant of the fact that the ribbons were stolen. It is thought by the officers in the case that Mr. Rich wrote the anonymous letter to Mr. O'Neill, informing him of the thefts. Mrs. Rich has been locked up for trial. Rich has been remanded for examination to-day and Mrs. Posthauer, who insests that she did not know the ribbons she purchased were stolen, was paroled.

Long Island City.—At the meeting of the Queens County Board of Supervisors, held at the Court House yesterday, Judge Armstrong, counsel to the Board, gave his opinion that the Board had the right to elect the (keeper) superintendent of the Insane Asylum. NATIONAL BOARD OF STEAM NAVIGATION. NATIONAL BOARD OF STEAM NAVIGATION.

The twelfth annual meeting of the National Board of Steam Navigation will begin at the Metropolitan Hotel to-day at 10 a.m. The last meeting of the body was held in Washington. The sessions are always interesting, as they seek to promote the public safety and often make recommendations to Congress as to needed legislation on matters of navigation. Delegates are expected from Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Detroit, Cincinnati, Buffalo, New-Orleans, St. Louis, Louisville, Pittsburg and other cities. E. W. Gould, the president, is already in town. This evening B. Joy Jefferies will read a paper on color-blindness in its relations to signal lights and will illustrate it by colored lights, diagrams, etc. To-morrow the delegates will inspect the light-houses in the harbor.
